High-Speed Help

Engen Enterprises, like nearly all companies in 2015, needed more reliable and higher-speed Internet connectivity in order to better conduct their business. But they also needed assistance in migrating from their previous cloud platform to a new, more stable and accessible environment.

Engen Enterprises worked with previous telecommunication service providers, but their needs remained unmet. When they met with Stellar Connect, they realized the higher level of service instantly. No solution was rushed; Stellar Connect responded to their initial meetings with several proposals, each detailing a different plan with different perks. Engen Enterprises had questions, and Stellar Connect responded to each with patience and thoughtful answers.

Better, Faster Internet Connection

Flynn describes the difference between their previous Internet service speed and the speed Stellar Connect helped them achieve as "apples and oranges." Engen Enterprises' connectivity speed increased from 1.5 GB to 10 GB.

"We're not paying much more, and we're getting a ton more for the money—better Internet security, better reliability and a faster connection," said Flynn. "I would absolutely recommend Stellar Connect's services to another business."

"Stellar Connect employs a high-integrity, high-knowledge team, and their confidence and expertise is immediately evident. Listening to the customer was clearly high on their list of priorities."
